Leona was a talented person who worked as a seamstress and caterer, preparing many tasty and delightful meals.

In later years she began a serious study of the Bible with Jehovah's Witnesses. After becoming convinced of the Bible truths of God's Kingdom and the paradise earth Jehovah purposed for believing mankind, she symbolized her dedication to serving the true God by water baptism on July 11, 1969. The preaching work was her passion. She shared Bible truths with all whom she met.

Sometime after her baptism, she married the love of her life, Horace Turk. Theirs was a theocratic union which brought them great joy until his death.

She leaves to cherish her memory, a brother, Billy Miller, Gadsden, Alabama; sister-in-law, Mary Miller, Highland Fall, New York; a host of nieces, nephews, cousins and many dear friends.
